

WRITTEN BY ALAN J. FIELD

CLIMATE CHANGED

WORLD'S WORST TEMP LAWYER'S ABOUT TO GO TO
WAR WITH DENIERS.... IF ONLY HE COULD HANDLE
HIS HOT RELATIONSHIP WITHOUT GETTING BURNED!

Climate Changed

Written by Alan J. Field

CLIMATE CHANGED

CLIMATE CHANGED is a an action/rom-com that shows how one man can make a difference--as long as he learns to work with others! Weaving a comedic romance into an imminent environmental disaster plot at the hands of a greedy corporation, we watch forgotten workers suffering under the oppression and obscurtiy of stultifying cubicle culture rise above their station to stand up for what's right.

LOGLINE:

When and all-talk-but-no-actioon environmentalist is forced to work for fossil fuel conglomerate and learns that his new girlfriend may be runing a global warming cover-up of a cataclysmic environmental disaster, he rounds up misfit coworkers to expose the truth.

THE PLAYERS

THE BEST FRIEND

THE GIRLFRIEND

THE ENVIRONMENTALIST

THE QUIRKY BOSS

MINI SYNOPSIS

Environmentalist MAX BRICKER is pathetic. Although he's a law school graduate who's devoted his career to saving the environment because of a family tragedy, he can't get out of his own way. Fresh from getting fired for starting a failed office revolt while earning peanuts from performing kid's magic shows at any JCC who will take him, his girlfriend kicks him out in favor of a law school classmate. His gay best friend--his only friend--CHAD TRUBERG, is there for him and invites him to crash at his place, but his Fiancee, WILL, wishes Max would just fall off the end of the earth.

Forced to accept a dead-end temp job at an oil company conglomerate to make ends meet, Max befriends the charming KIM DEARING on the job. Their relationship blossoms because of their shared love of the environment. But when Max discovers she could be a corporate flunkee who's helping their employer cover up an environmental disaster, can Max handle their hot relationship without getting burned?

Contact:

Alan J. Field

contact@alanjfieldbooks.com

Phone: 201-478-3800